I am indeed very pleased to learn about World Book Records (WBR) Listing, that incorporates to be globally authorized and certified body for recognition, verification and scouting of setting or breaking world records as well as honors those who are excelling at their respective fields.

It is also heartening to know that the WBR is working on the same line as the Guinness World Records and Limca Book of Records. Under the distinguished category of the WBR, specific places, temples, forts, natural landscapes and other such unique legacy that stand for historic, economic and cultural values; individuals and organizations that worked exceptionally for people and a country are to be listed.

I commend a great initiative and wish the WBR all success.
