I am delighted to know that the World Book of Records, London, is publishing its overseas edition-2021.

Your objective of recognising the potential of talent and capabilities in world records through international certification is appreciable.

The World Book of Records' efforts in honouring personalities, places of outstanding contribution for humanity and universal peace deserve much praise.

I am sure that your contribution in encouraging and recognising the talented people throughout the world and awarding them international certification will go a long way in motivating the potential talents in varied fields.

In the context, I would like to mention that the city of Hyderabad, which is the capital of Telangana State, and it is emerging as the hub of pharmaceutical sector and especially in the area of vaccines production. Hence it deserves a place in the World Book of Records.

I extend hearty congratulations and appreciation to all those working relentlessly in bringing out the World Book of Records and its overseas edition for the year-2021.
